

SCHOOL STREET PARCEL SOLD

L. A. Leong was the successful bidder for 19,250 square feet of real estate on School street near Liliha, sold at commissioner's sale at noon today at Morgan's auction room. The price paid was $3300.

The property was sold by order of the court as a result of a suit entitled Lukua vs. Manna et al., for the partition of the property. J. Lightfoot was attorney for the plaintiff in the case, and the sale was conducted under the direction of M. T. Simonton, commissioner. There were a number of bidders for the place, the bidding starting at $1500.

W. A. Bowen, superintendent of Central Union church bible school, urges the members of Central Union church and others who are interested to be present tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the special missionary exercises, where Rev. Philip A. Delaporte and Miss Olga Meltzer of the Nauru station, will speak.

WILL WATCH HOMESTEADERS

In future all homesteaders will be reported on from time to time, and a strict tab will be kept on the goings and comings of settlers. The land commissioner has arranged for such reports to be sent in, and it will thus be easy to see if the residence clause in the homestead papers is complied with.

Encouraging reports come from the Lanipahoe settlers who took up land some fifteen months ago. The homesteaders are growing cane and vegetables, and are doing well.

Among the settlers are thirteen Hawaiians, eight Portuguese, six Russians, three other whites and two Japanese. One man took the land on the straight homesteading plan, six favored the cash freehold basis, six took up land under the special homesteading agreements and nineteen under right of purchase leases.

A man may put a lot of poetry in to courtship and yet get nothing but prose out of marriage.

RAISE IN PRICE OF CANNED PINES

According to W. F. Burrows, vice president and manager of the packing firm of Libby, McNeill & Libby, of Chicago, the price of canned pineapple is to be advanced somewhat to the consumer in the future. Fruit which retailed last year at 25 cents per tin will this year sell for 30 cents. This will apply especially in the Eastern markets, and is due to increased cost of sugar and other features of the business.

Mr. Burrows, who has been looking after the company's interests in Hawaii for some weeks, leaves by the Mongolia for the Coast. He expects an output this season, from their plantings on the Koolau side of Oahu, of about 110,000 cases, and about double this amount for the year to follow. The company's pack last year was 49,000 cases.

The Libby, McNeill & Libby people hope to solve the labor problem during the canning season this year by constructing model quarters at the Ahulmanu factory for the hundreds of girls which are to be employed. The clubhouse which will be built will have reading room, recreation room, lunch room and dance hall; and an official chaperon will be employed to look after the interests of the girls. It is the intention to make the place so attractive and safe that there will be no difficulty in getting all the "hands" necessary from Honolulu.

According to Mr. Burrows, his company will not bother with the pineapple juice proposition until further advance is made in the process of preserving and marketing it. Particular attention is being paid by the company to supplying pineapples to European consumers.

broad sidewalks, the ladies were unanimous and the only objections to the proposal were reported from outside. It is known also to be the idea of the supervisors to park the middle.

As to the kind of tree to plant, there was much discussion. A branch of real mahogany was exhibited of which it was stated prompt application would secure enough seedlings for the purpose from the government nursery. This tree has a pretty blossom and pineapple cones. It being agreed that no tree would be suitable which gave out roots that would break up the roadway or which was not a quick grower, the choice of tree was referred to the ladies with the understanding that they should consult experts on the matter.

With reference to the archway it was taken for granted that no county funds would be available, at least presently, for its construction, and the consensus of opinion was that commercial Honolulu would cheerfully respond to an appeal in behalf of such a structure, which is one of the features in the Robinson scheme for beautifying Honolulu.

The ladies of the committee are the full delegation of the Kihohani Art League in the Central Improvement Committee, and their seal in this first work given to them by the latter body indicates how valuable the cooperation of the League will be in practical efforts toward making Honolulu beautiful—this in addition to the work they are doing in that line on their own account, such as the tree-planting at Ania Park in which the Outdoor Circle of the League has obtained the assistance of the board of supervisors.

There was a full attendance of members at the meeting, viz: Mrs.

BIG FALLING OFF IN WEEK'S SALES

This has been a dull week on the exchange, with steadily declining prices and light sales. There have been no serious breaks, but the market is dragging badly, due no doubt to uncertainty over the outcome of tariff legislation in Congress.

During the week just closing 3822 shares of different stocks sold for $105,994.50, against 8143 shares valued at $307,726.50 for last week, and 11,000 shares worth $325,719.50 for the week previous.

When the committee's report has been drafted by Mr. Towse, secretary of the committee, a meeting of the Central Improvement Committee will be called for its consideration.

A beautifully hand inscribed set of resolutions, recently adopted by the Commercial Club of Honolulu, on the occasion of the death of James F. Morgan, a charter member of the organization, has been prepared for presentation to the family of the deceased. The work was done in the engraving department of Wichman & Co.

BUILDING DINNER PRODUCES IDEAS

The "building dinner" of the Commercial Club last evening was a decided success from the standpoint of enthusiasm over the proposed building to be built as a home for the several commercial bodies of the city. Of the some fifty diners, probably not one does not strongly hope for the consummation of the general plan. The details have not yet been worked out, but a big step was taken in this direction also at last evening's dinner. Fred L. Waldron, president of the Commercial Club, perhaps expressed the belief of all present when he declared that the commercial building of Honolulu will be a reality before the long discussed Federal building.

W. R. Castle, chairman of the joint committee of eighteen members representing the Chamber of Commerce, Merchants' Association, Commercial Club, and Stock and Bond Exchange, in the building scheme, outlined what has been done in the past, and predicted that the fulfillment of the hopes for which the committee stands is much nearer than surface indications would show.

Besides Mr. Castle, various other speakers addressed the meeting—E. I. Spaulding, president of the Chamber of Commerce; A. J. Gignoux, president of the Merchants' Association; Governor Frear, A. F. Afong, of the Stock Exchange, Fred C. Smith, W. H. McInerney and others.

W. F. Dillingham, who was not able to be present, addressed a letter to the meeting, in which he stated that he had made a canvass that satisfied him that it would be easy to get business firms as tenants for a building located on the Bishop Estate site at King and Bishop streets, which would insure the financial success of a structure costing $150,000 to $200,000.

The principal question at issue seems to be between the proposal to let the Bishop Estate erect a building for the allied bodies, and lease same to them, and that of the commercial organizations securing a site of their own and financing their own building. Apparently the Bishop Estate has no desire to sell the King Bishop street location, therefore many members seem to favor the proposition of buying the old Honolulu Hale property on Merchant street, adjoining the postoffice.

Governor Frear spoke strongly in favor of the organizations owning their own building. "If it will pay a landlord to build and lease a building for you," he said, "it will be profitable for you to do it yourself."

It is proposed to issue bonds sufficient to cover the cost of the land and building. Another plan is to secure subscriptions from among the business men on a stock proposition. A very strong plea was made by most of the speakers that civic pride should play a sufficient part to remove the proposition from one of simply sordid profit that might be made on the building as an investment.
